Tarot for the Month

by Beth

If you don't like the truth you see in the world, change it. If you want something different, open your mouth or pick up your pen and talk it into reality. You don't have to accept the way things are. In fact, right now, you have a duty to challenge it. Open your mind, listen and learn, discern, cut through bullshit and discover your own truth. You can be the change you want to see in the world and it all begins with communication.

Meetup Recap

by Claire

Some Cincy Straddlers organized ourselves to attend Cincinnati's Black Lives Matter march on July 10th. We stood in solidarity with Cincinnati's black community and black folks all over the country to mourn and to demand better. We are nearing the anniversary of the killing of Sam Dubose right here in Cincinnati, so the march was especially timely for our community. Some of us reflected on walking the same streets for Pride a few weeks before, and were noting how empowered huge demonstrations like these can feel. It makes it so the support we have is visible, with thousands of people out and walking with us
